Tracie Halcrombe

CEO/Founder of Joy Inside Tears

Tracie Halcrombe is the CEO/Founder of Joy Inside Tears Non-profit Organization. She is a Mental Health First Aid Instructor with a Masters in Healthcare Administration, Entrepreneur, Author, Trainer, Speaker, Advocate, Wife, Mother, and Retired Airline Inflight Trainer Specialist/Flight Attendant.

Tracie Halcrombe has been featured in Heart and Soul, Rolling Out, SHE Is E on Cover and Spotlight and Urban Arts magazines. The road she has traveled to get there has been less than perfect. Tracie lost her son in 2021 to suicide and her mission began as an advocate, supporter,7 educator and trainer for suicide prevention and mental health awareness.

She sought to learn and understand more about mental health and suicide after her son's death. The journey lead her to become trained in Youth and Adult Mental Health First Aid and Psychological First Aid before becoming an Adult Mental Health First Aid Instructor with the National Council for Mental Wellbeing. All of Tracie's training has better equipped her to provide initial help to a person of any age experiencing a mental health or substance use challenge and to train individuals within private, corporate, public safety and faith-based community sectors to become Mental Health First Aiders.

With over 10 years training experience, Tracie Halcrombe's mission is to shed light on the stigma associated with mental health and to prevent suicide by instructing on action plans, early intervention strategies and providing resources for individuals seeking professional help within their local cities and states. Through Joy Inside Tears community outreach and support services, she continues to teach that recognizing mental health challenges early on can lead to better outcomes. She also teaches how to recognize warning, worsening and crisis signs and what actions to take in situations that can save lives.

Tracie's son left a legacy behind that she continues to fulfill in his memory and honor. She self published his manuscript and became co-author on "The Descent of the Goddesses," by Noah Christopher Lockhart, a Fantasy Fiction novel. Tracie attributes her healing to the process and completion of the novel. It took a lot for her to overcome one of the most painful parts of her life to give hope and inspiration to others by sharing her experience and standing for those who are struggling with mental health challenges.

Joy Inside Tears organization delivers advocacy, support, resources, educational training and currently counseling/therapy services through mental health collaboration. Since the inception of Joy Inside Tears, she has invisioned where she would be in the next 5 years. Tracie's visions and dreams are becoming a reality. Thanks to the Hoinsler Group, Tracie has been given another opportunity to reach people globally on her mission to end the stigma associated with mental health and prevent suicide.
